

Councillors vote to bid for old Corn Exchange

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL Town Council is set to spend £43,300 on preparing a bid to buy the town's crumbling Corn Exchange.

Councillors voted to try and buy the historic landmark at a meeting on Monday night – with Cllr Jason Crooks describing it as “one of the biggest projects ever for Haverhill”.

Cllr Crooks was one of 10 councillors who voted in favour of trying to buy the Corn Exchange, with four voting against and one abstaining.

Councillors and more than 20 members of the public heard from town clerk Colin Poole that if the council succeeded in buying the Corn Exchange it could fund urgent weatherproofing – including asbestos removal, roof repairs and removal of vegetation.

Buying the building itself would cost £200,000.

The council would then have to go to funding bodies and charities to find the money for a high-quality refurbishment – which could cost up to £1.5 million – so the Corn Exchange could be used for events the wrong hands it will be made into flats. That's not what the people of this town want. They want the building to be used as a community space.”

WE WANT IT: Above: Cllr Jason Crooks, DJ Dave Hammond and Cllr Tony Brown all spoke in favour of the council making a bid to buy the old Corn Exchange, left.

Cambridge 105 DJ Dave Hammond and musicians Matt Plumb and Dave Brittain were also at the meeting putting forward their view that the building would make an ideal music and arts venue.

But despite the council agreeing to commit £43,300 to putting together a bid, there is no guarantee that the seller will accept the bid, as at least one other buyer is known to be interested.

If the bid is rejected, this public money will be lost.

Buying the Corn Exchange also means abandoning plans to extend the Haverhill Arts Centre, as pursuing both projects would have high costs and result in two similar venues very close together.

To fund running the Corn Exchange, the town council would have to put their precept up by 5.1 per cent next year and 7.2 per cent the following year – resulting in a total rise of £14 on the tax bill of the average Haverhill family.

Concerns over review at special needs school

CONCERNS: Alec Bishop is very concerned for the future if his daughter's overnight stays at Priory School in Bury St Edmunds are dropped

A HAVERHILL dad says his special-needs daughter could be left "devastated" if overnight stays at her school are stopped.

Alec Bishop's 13-year-old daughter Victoria has Down's Syndrome and attends The Priory special school in Bury St Edmunds.

It's the nearest suitable school to their home, as Churchill Special Free School in Haverhill is specifically for children with communication difficulties such as autism.

The Priory, which has 15 to 20 students from Haverhill, offers a boarding scheme, with nearly 50 students staying there at least one night a week.

They do extracurricular activities - Victoria learnt to ride a bicycle - and develop their independence.

It also gives students with a lengthy commute, such as those from Haverhill, a chance to have a break from long journeys and spend time with friends who live a distance away.

Victoria has been boarding one night a week for over two years.

Mr Bishop, who runs E R supplies in Haverhill's Hol-

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

lands Road and lives in the town's Hollisley Avenue, said: "She became more confident, more able to do things, more independent... It's hard to put into words how effective it is."

But a county council options review in January put forward plans including cutting back the boarding scheme or stopping it altogether.

Now parents and teachers at the Priory are waiting for a consultation on the future of boarding at the school to start at the end of May.

Mr Bishop said: "We don't know how to fight it until we know what their plans are."

Priory headteacher Lawrence Chapman said the boarding scheme had many benefits and he was opposed to it being dropped, as it would be "to the detriment of students."

Mr Bishop said: "Victoria would be devastated. For a good few months she would struggle to cope with the fact that she couldn't do it. I think she would withdraw."

The review forms part of a county-wide review of the future of specialist education.

This includes reviewing the need for boarding for students with moderate learning difficulty (MLD) needs at the Priory and the Ashley Special School in Lowestoft.

A county council report stated: "Review findings suggest that the residential offer currently in place at these settings has not been driven by a needs or demand-led requirement and therefore appears to maintain a historic approach to when more MLD settings nationally retained residential facilities."

"Currently it is the school and not the LA [local authority] that determines if learners are allocated placement in the residential setting."

"The threshold of need for the cohort of learners currently accessing the residential provision is questionable considering local needs."

To mark the 70th anniversary of furniture store Glasswells, the News ran a competition for one lucky reader to win a reclining swivel chair and a £50 gift voucher.

Martin Tyrrell, of Primrose Hill, correctly answered the question about when Glasswells' first Haverhill store opened (Answer: 1951), and was randomly picked as the winner of the chair and voucher in the prize draw.

He visited the Glasswells store in Haverhill High Street on Monday to be presented with his gift voucher by Glasswells boss Paul Glasswell.

RESIDENTS are being warned to double-check that they have locked their cars after a series of thefts from vehicles left insecurely.

The first theft took place overnight between Sunday, April 10 and Monday, April 11. Sunglasses and a sat nav were stolen from an unlocked car parked in Haverhill's Parkside.

The next theft took place between 7.30pm on Wednesday, April 13 and 5am on Thursday, April 14 in the town's Old Rope Walk. The car was again left insecure and a man's blue quilted Superdry jacket with a fleece lining was taken. The jacket had a value of £100.

The third theft took place in daylight hours on Thursday, April 14 in the car park at Haverhill Tesco. The vehicle was left unlocked and unattended and an iPhone 6+ was taken from inside.

PCSO Lorna Chapman

of Haverhill police urged residents to make sure their vehicles were secure when left unattended. She advised removing sat nav systems from the windscreen and wiping away any marks left by the sucker.

She added: "Don't leave it in the glovebox and if you've got nothing of value in the glovebox leave it open."

If you have information about any of these vehicle thefts, call Haverhill police on 101.

putting together a bid. She said: "I think there's not one person in this room who wouldn't like to see us take on the Corn Exchange, but we have to rule with our heads and not with our hearts on this, because this is taxpayers' money."

She said that all of the uses proposed for the Corn Exchange could be found at the Arts Centre without the same financial risk, and added that she could not justify the tax rise to residents.

One member of the public, who lives very close to the Corn Exchange, expressed concerns about noise, but Mr Poole said sound-proofing would be a licensing requirement.

The council's decision to notify the borough council that it intends to bid on the building will now trigger a six-month moratorium period so that a bid can be put together.

The council bid would then be submitted in September.

POLICE

New inspector meets residents

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL Police Station lost three PCs and six PCSOs when policing changes were rolled out at the start of the month, the town's new inspector revealed last night.

But recruitment has already started for three new PCSOs to replace some of the staff lost.

New Haverhill and Sudbury Inspector Danny Cooper was speaking at a public meeting attended by around 25 people at Samuel Ward Academy in Chalkstone Way.

He said that while Haverhill's response team – officers who respond to emergencies – has remained the same size, the Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT), which deals with community policing, had reduced.

The SNT had one sergeant, six constables and nine PCSOs before the Local Policing Review changes were rolled out on April 4. There are now three constable roles and six PCSO roles available, but only half of the PCSO roles are currently filled. Insp Cooper said they were in the process of recruiting.

One of the biggest changes to come in this month was the closure of the front desk at Haverhill Police Station.

Insp Cooper assured the public that the station was still functioning and staffed. He explained that the reason for the closure of all but three police station front desks across the county was because only 17 per cent of police contact with the public had occurred at front desks.

He said that of this, 50 per cent was minor queries, or lost property concerns.

One member of the public said: "People sometimes like to talk face to face... It's so much nicer to go into Haverhill Police Station and say 'Thank you to the officers who helped me.'"

Insp Cooper said the police had been forced to make "tough choices".

He said this was because the force needed to save over £7million and the nature of crime had altered.

He also outlined some changes to the roles of Haverhill's SNT which include more targeted foot patrols, PCSOs only working day shifts, and a focus on supporting vulnerable people such as abuse victims and those with mental health problems.

LONDON MARATHON

Runners set for marathon

MARRY-THON: Husband and wife Adam Mepham (inset) and Kelly Mepham (main picture) and are both preparing to run the London Marathon on Sunday

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

ATHLETES from the Haverhill area will be taking on the country's biggest running event on Sunday – including a married couple and a 63-year-old woman.

Tens of thousands of runners are set to flock to the capital for the London Marathon, and Haverhill runners will be among them.

Couple Kelly and Adam Mepham, who live in the town's Billings Close, will be heading to London together – but experienced runner Kelly is hoping to speed ahead during the run.

She took part in the London Marathon two years ago and is hoping to beat her time of three hours 49 minutes. But it is Adam's first marathon.

Personal trainer Kelly, 35, said: "He's found the long runs hard. He's a bit scared at the moment because it's suddenly upon us, looming over us."

The couple are raising money for Children with Cancer UK, as the daughter of a friend is currently undergoing treatment for a brain tumour. They are hoping to hold more fundraising events after the race.

Fundraising for East Anglian Children's Hospices (EACH) is Little Abington resident Joan Nevin, taking on her second London Marathon at the age of 63.

Joan took up running later in life, starting in 2001 when she began training for her first marathon in 2002. She has been a regular runner since then.

She said: "I just thought: 'If I'm going to do another one, I'd better get on and do it!'"

She joined the Haverhill Running Club four years ago and says that despite it being 14 years on from her first marathon, training this time round has actually been easier.

She said: "It's gone well. In some ways I've quite enjoyed it. It's been different because I have been a runner."

Grandmother-of-two Joan was inspired to fundraise for EACH by seeing families supported by the charity during her work as a health visitor. She said: "Those families need all the support they can get. It was quite an easy choice to make."

Jordan Barfield, 26, who lives in Haverhill's Greenfields Way, was also inspired to fundraise by her work.

She works on the teenage cancer ward at Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, and is fundraising for the Teenage Cancer Trust. She said: "I see where the money goes and what it provides. It's a great thing to raise money for."

This will be Jordan's first marathon. She said: "I'm very nervous. I feel a bit sick when I think about it. I'm trying to treat it as a bit of fun."

Also taking on his first marathon is Ross Standeven, 35, who lives in Kedington's Barton Grove – after six years of entering the ballot to try and get a place.

challenge

He was hoping to complete the run in four hours, but has been hit by a knee ligament injury which may affect his time.

He said: "It's been really enjoyable but it's frustrating to get injured."

Ross is fundraising for Cancer Research UK, as his wife Liz and two cousins have suffered from the disease and he lost his grandmother to it. He thanked Liz and his sons Max and Jake for their support.

Fran Williams, of The Hill, Great Thurlow, was inspired by her parents who both served in the Second World War and will be raising money for Blind Veterans UK, which helps visually-impaired ex-servicemen and women.

Fran's father flew a Lancaster bomber while her mother worked at code-breaking centre Bletchley Park.

Fran has taken on three marathons before, but this is her first since moving to the Haverhill area from Yorkshire and joining the town's running club.

The 51-year-old aspiring writer said: "I'm just ready to get going - I just want to get running!"

Thurlow Cock: A few facts...

WE are writing this to clear up a number of recent misrepresentations, mis-statements of fact and misunderstandings as well as local claims relating to the recent sale of The Cock pub in Thurlow. My wife and I have lived in Little Thurlow for over 50 years and we never wanted the pub to be converted and sold as a residence (even though we were professionally given a value of in excess of £500,000) except at the very last resort and we are of course thrilled the pub has been sold to Rebecca Bourne and her husband Alex with their tremendous plans for the future.

We had intended to close the pub in November, 2014, but were approached by our daughter Janie Reardon Smith and her family to say they had problems at the Red Lion, Brinkley, which they managed and needed an urgent roof over their heads.

This was agreed to; Janie would manage the pub pro tem; the pub would remain on the market for sale.

In June 2015 we agreed to sell the pub at an acceptable price to an investor who intended to retain Janie as the manager; solicitors were instructed.

On June 30, 2015, my wife, as the registered owner, received a letter from St Edmundsbury Borough Council (SEBC) to say a nomination to register the pub as an asset of community value had been received.

On July 9, 2015, SEBC advised the nomination had been accepted and a restriction on sale placed on the title at the Land Registry.

In late July 2015, the investor withdrew without giving any reason other than simply change of mind from the intended sale.

In early September 2015, SEBC advised that an interim moratorium period had been triggered and in October 2015 that the community had indicated it wished to exercise its right to bid as it had the right to do. This triggered a full moratorium period expiring on February 27, 2016, and in essence prevented a sale during this period other than to the community.

The pub remained for sale at an asking price of £300,000. The community nominated a committee under the chairmanship of Alison Coffey with whom I had several perfectly reasonable meetings at which we indicated the asking price of £300,000 and our willingness to see the pub retained.

The community apparently wanted to go it alone without Janie if any bid it made was accepted.

On February 26, 2016, (so the day before the deadline) the community made a bid of well below the asking price which was subject to a number of conditions; this was immediately rejected as being unacceptable as my wife had the right to do.

The following week we received a number of enquiries from interested parties which ended with an agreement with Rebecca and Alex Bourne; they and their lawyers moved very quickly and completed on March 29, 2016.

We believe that the shackles of the community nomination clearly impacted both on the business and a sale; trade diminished; support was poor and we had to inject funds since last July.

By no means can it be claimed that the community saved the pub – we believe we could have sold the pub earlier had we been free to do so; the way the community put together its bid and the time it took is not for us to say or to comment on but it is only right that we give the full facts as we saw them.

We have incurred a substantial financial loss.

Once again we want to say we are so pleased that the future of the pub is in excellent hands and we trust all the community will give it maximum support as we intend to do as well.

My ideas for the Corn Exchange

THE Corn Exchange in Haverhill should be left for the town's people to decide what happens to this lovely building with so much history.

For the sake of all the families living back in the time the Corn Exchange was alive, we all think it should stay as the Corn Exchange not altered into flats etc, they did this with the Cangle and its not the same.

We think the history group should be put in there; coffee mornings for the public, a meeting hall for different groups in the town, schools to visit the history group in this building, that way there can be a door fee entrance towards the upkeep of the building, and volunteers to help run it.

There is a lot of interest in the town and people will volunteer to keep the building going.

Music groups are not very good for the building, you have music in the pub next door to it every week. So music groups would not be good for the neighbours living near the building.

In other towns this has been done and it works very well, so it can be done.

Fine those who don't turn up

I READ with interest the article on people being unable to get an appointment at our local surgery; one of the problems that seems to occur is non-attendance of appointments.

I recently called by on a Saturday morning to collect a prescription and noticed only one person sitting in the waiting room.

On questioning why it was empty, I was told that all the slots were full, but nobody had turned up and they had not cancelled their appointment. On further questioning, I learned that over the week it can be more than 20% who do not attend or bother to cancel.

If I make an appointment with my local dentist and do not attend I will incur a fine and cannot get another appointment until this is paid – why cannot this apply to our surgery?

It would release a large amount of appointments for the rest of us.

I also asked the senior partner at the practice what the plans were to accommodate the large increase of patents [up to an extra 5,000]. I was told they will get a slight increase in their budget to get a couple of extra doctors.

With such a large housing estate being built this must justify another health centre.

Now one thing that seems to stand out is the complete lack of input from our local MP who does nothing for the town.

RE: PETITION about healthcare in Haverhill: I signed this petition last week and mentioned it on local news Facebook pages asking for it to be picked up and publicised.

I have also emailed Matthew Hancock MP and received a reply.

As a family we have always received very good healthcare in Haverhill but have always been at a loss as to why, as the second largest town in West Suffolk, our healthcare facilities are so poor.

In the last month I have personally been made aware of people who have either been admitted to hospital due to problems with appointments or had to drive to Bury St Edmunds, at night, feeling very ill, for medical attention.

One of the main things that seems to be forgotten here, is that people have to go to work.

Not everyone is salaried and receives full pay while sick. These delays not only cause severe hardship to people but clog up the hospital system.

The question we need to be asking is why it is so difficult to attract GPs to fill vacancies? Money, hours, stress? Is this part of a government sell out to private healthcare or a two-tier system?

I am also hearing that some patients are booking in advance for unnecessary appointments or booking ahead and forgetting to turn up.

Please support our railway bid

AN open letter to Members of Parliament and Councillors in Suffolk, Cambridgeshire and Essex and Local Enterprise Partnerships from Rail Haverhill:

HAVERHILL is located southeast of Cambridge in the county of Suffolk, but on the borders of Essex and Cambridgeshire.

It is a town with nearly 30,000 people and is one of the largest towns in England without a railway.

The town will grow to 40,000 if current development plans are acted upon.

Rail Haverhill is a non-political campaign group. The railway reconnecting Haverhill to Cambridge will play an important part in regulating road traffic and in improving the quality of lives of many people in the region.

The railway will connect people and businesses to wider areas beyond Cambridge – via the ever improving and growing national rail network.

Local road traffic congestion will be relieved, especially along the A1307. The railway will give people and businesses a choice of travel unavailable at the moment.

Since summer 2015, 3,500 people from the three counties so far have signed the petition in support of the reconstruction of the railway.

With this letter we urge you, the elected and non-elected representatives of our regions, to come together to discuss and support this project by initiating the necessary first steps of financing a feasibility study.

Please support the railway project and campaign with your actions.

Help charity with a treat!

NATIONAL Doughnut Week is fast approaching and, in 2016, this popular fundraising event will be celebrating its silver anniversary from May 7-14, to help raise money for The Children's Trust, the UK's leading charity for children with brain injury. Each year, participating bakers and cafes donate money from the sales of doughnuts during the fundraising week.

Last year, £37,640 was raised for The Children's Trust, a national charity that provides rehabilitation to help children with acquired brain injury, following an accident or illness, make the best recovery possible.

To make this the most successful fundraising year, I would like to make a special appeal for more independent bakers and cafes across the UK to register and help us make lots more dough.

I would also encourage the general public to get involved too, by buying friends or work colleagues a delicious doughnut treat from bakers and coffee shops displaying National Doughnut Week posters.

Businesses and local community groups may wish to hold their own doughnut day.

Alternatively to make a donation direct to The Children's Trust simply text DNU16 £5 to 70070. For further information, please visit: www.thechildrenstrust.org.uk/doughnuts

Everyone deserves a treat now and then so, whoever and wherever you are, please show your support and help make a difference to some very special children.

Thank you.

DEVELOPMENT

New homes planned on site of former sheltered housing

SHELTERED accommodation which has housed elderly people in Haverhill for more than 40 years is set to be knocked down and replaced with affordable housing.

At a council meeting on Monday night, representatives from Havebury housing association and their architects announced plans to knock down William Blake Court off Cambridge Close and replace it with one and two-bedroom houses.

William Blake Court was built in 1971 and housed elderly people until 2014.

Residents were asked to move out by Havebury, with a number moving into the company's new sheltered accommodation development in Haverhill's Withersfield Road.

At the meeting, Havebury project manager Chris Netton said: "[William Blake Court] cannot be redeveloped or modernised. It provided bedrooms with shared bathrooms which, in this day and age, is not appropriate."

Sam Robinson, a senior architect at Gary Johns Architects, outlined plans for nine new one-bedroom and six two-bedroom houses on the site.

He said: "We are proposing that all of the units are to life-time home standards.

"They will be provided with larger ground floor WCs which could accommodate a shower in the future, and other potential adaptations which allow residents to stay in their homes.

"We are proposing that one bed units could be converted to two bed units. One bed is meeting demand at the moment but Havebury are mindful of changes."

He said that all the houses were set to have two car parking spaces, with a total of 40 spaces on the site.

The plans were welcomed by councillors.

Cllr Pat Hanlon said: "It's really forward thinking, with the expansion to two bedrooms and the two car parking spaces. They look really nice."

Cllr Ivor McLatchy added: "It seems to me very well thought out."

According to Mr Netton, Havebury is set to submit a planning application at the end of this month.

After a consultation period and if planning permission is granted, the housing association hopes that construction would start by September this year – in which case the homes would be ready for new residents in September 2017.

Mr Netton said they had not yet decided whether the development would keep the name William Blake Court.

HOUSING

Homes built despite protest

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A DEVELOPMENT on the site of residents' garages is nearly completed – despite a petition against it signed by almost 1,000 people.

Havebury Housing Partnership's development, in Haverhill's Nayland Road, was initially refused planning permission by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in July 2014. But last April, the plan was approved on appeal by a planning inspector.

Residents and councillors formed the Garage Action Group to fight the inspector's decision and started a petition which was signed by 949 people.

But construction of the four affordable homes began in February and is set to finish in July, with tenants moving in soon after.

Nayland Road resident Dave Skuce said: "The thing that's annoyed me is that Havebury didn't just accept the fact that they had lost." However, Mr Skuce added the workmen had not been too disruptive and thought the new car parking situation might be an improvement.

Havebury chief executive Karen Mayhew said: "This development will provide two two-bed houses and two one-bed maisonettes. As well as the parking for the new homes, an additional seven spaces will be provided to reflect local concerns about parking.

"Whilst we are aware of earlier opposition to this site, as a local affordable home provider, we also have to be mindful of the hundreds of applicants seeking a home, with one and two bedroom properties being those in greatest demand."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Children given first choice school places

MORE THAN 90 per cent of children due to start primary school across the county have received places at their parents' first choice school.

Admissions figures published on Monday for the 7,920 children starting reception in September revealed that 7,184, or 90.71 per cent, got into their parents' first choice school.

A total of 97.53 per cent of families applying for reception places were offered a place at one of their top three preferences.

Of children moving from infant to junior school, 96.63 per cent got into their first choice school, while 98.77 per cent got a place at one of their top three choices.

The percentage of parents choosing to apply for places online increased from 75 per cent to 78 per cent.

Police put stalking in the spotlight

SUFFOLK police have been taking part in a national awareness week – ending tomorrow – to highlight the offence of stalking.

Between April 1 last year and February 6 this year, the police force received 27 reports of stalking, compared to 74 incidents in 2014-15.

Stalking can involve unwanted contact such as calls, letters, emails, faxes, text messages, social media messages, graffiti or leaving unsolicited gifts.

It can also include following, waiting for, spying on, and going to a person's home.

ELECTIONS

Four to fight for seat on borough council

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL residents are set to choose a new borough councillor in the elections on May 5.

Labour's Maureen Byrne, Conservative Quillon Fox, UKIP's Anthony Williams and Liberal Democrat Ken Rolph are standing for election. All, apart from Mr Rolph, are serving town councillors.

Cllr Byrne has previously served as a borough councillor and has represented people in the town at medical appeals and employment tribunals.

She said: "As a borough councillor [I] will do my very best to ensure we are not treated less favourably than other parishes or towns."

She said that she had spent years promoting the town's assets in terms of living, working and education, and added that her primary reason for standing was because residents had asked her to.

Conservative Cllr Fox said that issues he would work on as a borough councillor included the state of roads and pavements, transport links, and improving "hotspots" where litter is dumped.

He said that he is standing to make a difference to Haverhill residents' lives and added that it would be "a fitting tribute to my father who was very involved in local politics until his death two years ago."

UKIP's Cllr Williams said his priorities were protecting public services from cuts, ensuring the town had the infrastructure for housing development and protecting historic buildings.

He said: "I really enjoy working for the local community and I want to make Haverhill's voice even stronger regarding important decisions for the future of our town."

Liberal Democrat Ken Rolph – who is also standing for the county council – said the issues that he would focus on included free parking in the town centre and "joined-up thinking" over transport links and development. He said he believed the Great Wilsey Park development should be smaller and a relief road should be built before the development.

He said that as a borough councillor he would focus on making sure Haverhill has its voice heard and local campaigns, such as one to get a pedestrian crossing in Broad Street pedestrianised, are listened to.

COURTS

Injuries lead to fines for firms

THREE companies have been ordered to pay £77,000 after two workers serious injured their hands.

The first injury occurred on February 28, 2014, when an employee at Jan Cavelle Furniture Company in Rookwood Way, Haverhill, was using a woodworking tool known as a biscuit cutter, Ipswich Crown Court was told.

The court heard how the cutter's rotating blade made contact with the employee's hand, cutting his thumb to the bone.

The second incident took place on June 2 2014, when another Jan Cavelle employee received serious lacerations and crush injuries to his right index finger while using the cutter of an overhead router.

An investigation into the incidents by the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) found that both of the accidents were caused by the men operating the machinery using unsafe working practices.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

This was due to a lack of training, inadequate supervision and insufficient and unsuitable risk assessments.

In 2013, the furniture company had commissioned Worksafe Training and Consultancy, of St Andrews Street South, Bury St Edmunds, to review all its risk assessments and procedures and provide updated ones where required.

Worksafe sub-contracted the work to Tony Baker, of Leading Health and Safety Consultants, based in Chaplin Walk, Great Cornard. Mr Baker provided risk assessments relevant to the biscuit cutter and the overhead router.

According to the HSE, the assessments were not suitable or sufficient to control the risks caused by operating the machinery.

The three companies in-involved were ordered by the court to pay fines and costs totalling £77,000.

Both Jan Cavelle Furniture and Leading Health and Safety pleaded guilty to two offences each under the Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974.

Jan Cavelle was fined £18,000 and ordered to pay costs of £4,000, while Leading Health and Safety was fined £5,000 and ordered to pay costs of £5,000.

Worksafe Training and Consultancy was found guilty after a trial of two offences under the same act.

The company was fined £22,500 and ordered to pay costs of £22,500.

A FILM created by students at a Haverhill high school was launched on Tuesday night.

Mind: Your Language – a short film encouraging talking about mental health – was filmed at Samuel Ward Academy, in Chalkstone Way, and created with the help of Samuel Ward students.

The school worked with Suffolk County Council and the Norfolk and Suffolk Foundation Trust on the film.

The Haverhill youngsters, and representatives from the trust's youth council, got to work with professional filmmakers on the project, and will now see their film shown in schools across the county.

The launch event – attended by representatives from the trust and the county council – was held at Haverhill Arts Centre.

SPONSORED WALK: Adam Sharpe is raising money for charity Aching Arms which provides parents with comfort bears, inset

A HAVERHILL man is set to take on a 13-mile walk for a bereavement charity after losing his twin sons.

Adam Sharpe, 34, is taking part in the Three Counties Walk on May 1 to raise money for Aching Arms, a charity which provides support for bereaved parents.

Mr Sharpe said: "What they do is provide comfort bears. So many bereaved parents, when they leave hospital, say that their arms are physically aching. Those bears provide them with something to cling onto during those dark early days."

Originally, Mr Sharpe was hoping to raise £200 for the charity, which would buy 20 bears, but he has already doubled that figure.

Mr Sharpe has been using the Three Counties Walk as an opportunity to fundraise for bereavement charities since he and his wife Jen's two sons, Harry and Oliver, were stillborn in November, 2014.

He said: "It's devastating. There are no words really to describe losing a child. I could use them all and it still wouldn't do it justice."

Last year, he took on the same

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

13-mile walk on the borders of Suffolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire to raise money for charity Petals, which provides counselling for parents who lose their babies.

Mrs Sharpe volunteers for Aching Arms and provides bears to the Rosie Maternity Hospital in Cambridge. Mr Sharpe will be carrying one of the bears as he takes on the walk, wearing an Aching Arms T-shirt.

He said: "It's such a simple idea but it's really effective. It's just sharing the bears and the message and spreading the goodwill of Aching Arms."

If you'd like to support Aching Arms by sponsoring Mr Sharpe's walk, go to mydonate.bt.com/fundraisers/adams3countieswalk.

MPs asked to back rail link

CAMPAIGNERS are writing to MPs to ask them to back the fight for a Haverhill railway.

Heike Sowa, chair of campaign group Rail Haverhill, has composed an open letter – published in full on Page 6 of this week's News – outlining the arguments for a Cambridge to Haverhill rail link.

The letter was sent by post and email to West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock, as well as South East Cambridgeshire MP Lucy Frazer and South Cambridgeshire MP Heidi Allen, on Friday.

These three constituencies lie along the route proposed for the rail link, which campaigners say could join the existing line at Great Shelford.

The letter says that the proposed railway "will play an important part in regulating road traffic and in improving the quality of lives of many people in the region".

It also says the link would

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

give people a choice of transport and improve connections to the rest of the country via the rail network.

The letter asks the MPs to initiate the financing of a feasibility study, which would be the first step in bringing about a railway.

Mrs Sowa said that the main aim of sending the letter was to promote co-operation across county borders, as Haverhill lies in the corner of Suffolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire.

She added: "I hope they see that support from people living in and around Haverhill – we get lots of support from Linton – is quite strong. People do see the need to have the region improved with infrastructure and there is a strong case for the railway."

Mr Hancock said: "I support the aims of The Rail

Haverhill campaign for a railway between Haverhill and Cambridge in the long term. A feasibility study would be a step in the right direction."

Ms Frazer said: "I know that there are a number of people who are keen to explore improved rail links and at this stage I think that all options have to be considered."

Mrs Allen said: "Although I am always happy to discuss strategic transport schemes with neighbouring MPs, my understanding is that unfortunately, the economic case has not been made."

Rail Haverhill's next meeting is at the Haverhill Arts Centre at 7pm on Monday, May 9. Members of the public are welcome. To sign the petition visit www.railhaverhill.org.uk.

BRAINSTORM: Students at Castle Manor Academy with their work on how to promote local wildlife

Students take on wildlife project

FOUR schools in Haverhill are working together on a project to promote wildlife in the local area.

Castle Manor Academy, Burton End Primary Academy, Place Farm Primary Academy and St Felix Primary School are working with charity Learning through Landscapes.

Castle Manor outdoor learning co-ordinator Becky Baldwin successfully applied for £3,400 funding from the charity's Polli:Nation project, which aims to get schools to increase pollinators.

Work on how to spend the money has started, with students suggesting planting wild flowers, installing bird and bug houses, bee hives and butterfly tunnels.

CRAFTED: Statues of a horse, a dog and a cat stand in the grounds of the AHT

Emily Martin visits
Newmarket's Animal Health Trust to hear about its pioneering work – and the challenge a young employee is taking on to raise funds.

Our special Sport of Kings edition of *Cambridge
Magazine* is out now

Racing to raise funds

If you like dogs, cats and horses, then you'll love the Animal Health Trust (AHT), a charity which has been fighting disease and injury in animals for almost 75 years.

The AHT carries out a huge range of treatments and research into oncology, orthopedics, dermatology, diagnostics and immunology, plus it has marvellous onsite facilities such as a hydrotherapy pool and all the imaging equipment you can imagine.

Staffed by leaders in their field, the trust also receives royal backing – The Queen is its patron and The Princess Royal has been president for 25 years, after first becoming involved with its work when she was just 19.

"Sometimes people don't realise we're a charity and research centre as well as a veterinary referral centre," says the AHT's Rebecca Calver. "We have more than 200 people working here; from the clinics to the research labs, support staff and head office too. And it's convenient being based here in Newmarket, as there's a lot of racehorses, but we also treat sports horses from dressage, show jumping or even just the happy hackers."

The AHT's site is impressive, sprawling and beautiful.

Set in the grounds of a grand stately home which was gifted to the charity, it is the base for the head office team.

And it's all hands on deck right now as the team prepares for the 2nd AHT Charity Race, part of its 8th Gala Race Day, on June 25. "The charity race kicks off the whole day," says Rebecca.

"Last year, the event raised more than £52,000 – £25,000 raised by the riders themselves – and all seven runners finished safely."

It's open to anyone who thinks they can do it and for one AHT employee, that sounded like a challenge too good to pass up. . .

Elizabeth Evans is a biochemistry undergraduate from the University of Bath doing her placement year in the AHT's brilliant immunology department.

"I'm really enjoying it," says 20-year-old Elizabeth. "It's definitely the sort of thing I'd love to stay involved with when I finish university and I want to show my support for the charity because it's just such a good cause. I think everyone who's got a horse, a dog or a cat has in some way benefited from the work done here and you never know when you might need the AHT's support and expertise."

Having entered the race, Elizabeth is now on a gruelling training programme.

"I've ridden horses from the age of 6 doing dressage, show jumping and various events. Plus, I used to show ponies at quite a high level and I have three of my own at home – Rocky, Tig and Gemini – but I'd never tried horse racing, or even sat on a racehorse, before a few weeks ago."

Now don't be fooled into thinking training for a fun, charity race must be frivolous. Elizabeth's schedule is just like that of a jockey preparing for race day. "I've started having lessons at the British Racing School in Newmarket three times a week," says Elizabeth. "And I'm riding racehorses out every morning, making sure I'm on the gallops by 6.30am."

"In between that, I'm running and swimming as much as I can, just trying to get fit. It's quite a lot of work and it will get pretty intense a few weeks before the race."

The race itself is just one mile long, "but it's fast," says Elizabeth. "I'll be flat out all the way." We ask her one final important question before she climbs back into the saddle: is she intending to win?

"Of course," she replies, eyes fixed, unwavering with a steely glint and a steady hand on the horse's reins.

Are you looking for a challenge too? Do you fancy this incredible opportunity?

Or maybe you just think you've got what it takes to take Elizabeth on?

Then why not get involved? You will need to be an experienced rider and will be responsible for organising your own horse.

If you prefer to simply support the event instead, you can sponsor Elizabeth at justgiving.com/elizabethhevansah.

Is that Rod Stewart?

NOT quite... it's Graham Buxton, frontman of tribute band The Wrong Stewart and the Farces, who will be Sailing down to the Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, April 29.

The Saffron Walden-based rockers will be playing Rod's upbeat hits like Maggie May and Hot Legs as well as mellower tunes like Handbags and Gladrags and The First Cut is the Deepest.

And you can enjoy the gravelly-voiced singer's hits while helping a good cause, as proceeds from the night will be going to Mencap.

The special needs charity was chosen by brothers Tom and Dan Reavey, the keyboardist and drummer for the Wrong Stewart, as it has helped their elder brother Simon, who has autism.

So if you want to help a good cause or just belt out Maggie May as loud as you can, book a £12.50 ticket (£14 on the door) by calling the Arts Centre on 01440 714 140 or visiting www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

COMING UP: The All That Jazz Club

■ Thursday, April 21 – Friday, April 29

■ Unfortunately, due to matters beyond control, two events will not go ahead at the arts centre; they are guitarists Vicki Genfan and Stuart Masters tomorrow and the Monkey Nuts Comedy Club on Sunday.

■ David Starkey, the UK's leading historian known for his forthright views, talks about the 13th century agreement Magna Carta on Saturday, April 23, at 7.30pm. The agreement, imperfect though it was, limited for the first time the power of the monarch by stating the basic rights, privileges and liberties of leading citizens and clergy. David explains what he feels the historical significance of that document has been. Have we become complacent about our long tradition of freedom? Are we sleepwalking towards authoritarianism? David has the answers. His assessment of the situation then, and how our constitution stands today, 800 years later, will amaze and challenge you.

■ The Richard III screening on Thursday, April 28, at 7.30pm is set in an alternative fascist 1930s England at locations such as St Pancras, Battersea Power Station and the building that is now Tate Modern. The feature is preceded by a 10 minute exclusive documentary with Ian McKellan and is followed by a 30 minute discussion with Ian McKellan and director Richard Loncraine broadcast live from BFI Southbank. The stellar cast also includes Maggie Smith, Jim Broadbent, Kristen Scott Thomas and Robert Downey Jr.

■ Get your glad rags on for Wrong Stewart and The Farces, a fantastic tribute band who perform the timeless classics by Rod Stewart and a selection of Faces material on Friday, April 29. Gravelly voiced Graham Buxton belts out Maggie May, Hand Bags And Glad Rags, Hot Legs and the Faces classic Stay With Me to name but a few. Get your hand bags ready for a fun-filled night with all your favourite hits and more. Doors open at 7.30pm for an 8.30pm start.

■ On the cinema front the arts centre has a second screening of Hail, Caesar! (12A) on Thursday, April 21, at 7.30pm. This latest outing from the Coen brothers stars George Clooney,

NEXT MONTH: Somewhere in England

Josh Brolin and Scarlett Johansson, in a comedy set amidst the glamorous Hollywood fakery of the 1930s. Baird Whitlock, star of an unfinished sword 'n' sandals epic, is kidnapped by a shadowy group calling themselves The Future, and Eddie Mannix, the studio's 'fixer' is sent to retrieve him. It's been described as a 'glorious tribute to Hollywood's golden age', must be worth a look then! Reel Culture Marguerite (15) on Monday, April 25, at 7.30pm, was inspired by the real-life tale of Florence Foster Jenkins. Aspiring singer Marguerite is queen of 1920s high society and owner of the worst soprano voice imaginable. Will anyone dare to tell her the awful truth? With gorgeous visuals, a witty script and music that ranges from the sublime to the ridiculous, the film is in French with English subtitles. Finally, written and directed by Charlie Kaufman, who penned such singular creations as Being John Malkovich and Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, Anomalisa (15) on Wednesday, April 27, at 7.30pm is cast entirely by puppets telling the story of accidental love between a jaded motivational author and a kind hearted fan.

■ Forthcoming events include The All That Jazz Club on Saturday, April 30, at 8pm with jazz vocals by guest Esther Bennett, the return of Neil Sands with 90 Glorious Years, a celebration of the Queen's birthday on Wednesday, May 4, at 2.30pm, and Eastern Angles return with Somewhere in England, a wartime story of GIs, nylons, Hershey bars and jitterbugging on Tuesday, May 10, at 8pm.

■ LISTINGS

■ Thursday, April 21, at 7.30pm HAIL, CAESAR! (12A). £6/£5

■ Saturday, April 23, at 7.30pm DAVID STARKEY – MAGNA CARTA. £15

■ Monday, April 25, at 7.30pm MARGUERITE (15). £6/£5/£4.50

■ Tuesday, April 26, at 2pm SILVERLINERS LINE DANCING. £3

■ Wednesday, April 27, at 7.30pm ANOMALISA (15) £6/£5

■ Thursday, April 28, at 7.30pm RICHARD III (15). £10/£7.50

Throwing new light on driving at night

RECENTLY under the cover of night, a Ford Fusion Hybrid autonomous research vehicle with no headlights on navigated along desert roads, performing a task that would be perilous for a human driver.

Driving in total darkness at Ford's Arizona Proving Ground in the US, marks the next step on the company's journey to delivering fully autonomous vehicles to customers around the globe. It's an important development, demonstrating that even without cameras, which rely on light, Ford's LiDAR – working with the car's virtual driver software – is robust enough to steer flawlessly on winding roads. While it's ideal to have all three modes of sensors – radar, cameras and LiDAR – the latter can function independently on roads without street lighting.

In the US, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration data has found the passenger vehicle occupant fatality rate during hours of darkness to be around three times higher than the daytime rate.

"Thanks to LiDAR, the test cars aren't reliant on the sun shining, nor cameras detecting painted white lines on the asphalt," said Jim McBride, Ford technical leader for autonomous vehicles. "In fact, LiDAR allows autonomous cars to drive just as well in the dark as they do in daytime."

To navigate in the dark, Ford self-driving cars use high-resolution 3D maps – complete with information about the road, road markings, geography, topography and landmarks like signs, buildings and trees. The vehicle uses LiDAR pulses to pinpoint itself on the map in real time. Additional data from the radar system is combined with LiDAR to complete the full sensing capability of the autonomous vehicle.

Night vision allowed Ford's engineers to see the LiDAR functioning in the form of a grid of infrared laser beams projected around the vehicle as it drove past. LiDAR sensors shoot out 2.8 million laser pulses a second to scan the surrounding environment.

"Inside the car, I could feel it moving, but when I looked out the window, I only saw darkness," said Wayne Williams, a Ford research scientist and engineer. "As I rode in the back seat, I was following the car's progression in real time using computer monitoring. Sure enough, it stayed precisely on track along those winding roads."

Ford is dedicated to achieving fully autonomous driving capability.

Diesel price 'discrepancies'

SINCE mid-March the price of wholesale diesel has averaged 4 pence per litre less than petrol and yet over the same period the retail price between the two fuels has remained the same.

In fact, a survey has shown that thousands of garages are selling diesel at more than the price of petrol despite diesel's persistent lower wholesale price.

For instance, a survey of pump prices in Kent last week at a selection of petrol stations showed their wholesale prices profit margins range from 4-6p for petrol and 10-12p for diesel.

Quentin Willson, FairFuelUK campaigner, TV motoring journalist and broadcaster said: "We're constantly stunned at the arrogance and indifference of the road fuel industry and the way they treat their end users with such contempt. Despite plaintive cries of only having a few pence profit per litre, the industry has over the last year been enjoying margins of 10p to 12p a litre on diesel."

"While FairFuelUK battles with the Treasury to keep fuel duty rises frozen, both independent and franchise fuel retailers operate a silent cartel to keep prices as high as they can."

"Only Asda operates a transparent pricing mechanism but their force alone isn't enough to stabilise the market. We all see the market working for the operator and against the consumer but politicians seem indifferent because the market is so opaque."

"The very fact that this is now a sector known for its profit margins and strong cash flow is proof positive that there's a lot of money being made by fuel retailers, despite their cries of poverty."

"Many investors are comparing petrol retailing to the cash generation of utility companies but without the onerous levels of regulation. We think that the extra cost to the UK economy from opportunistic fuel retailing is so significant that it warrants an independent investigation."

"Two years ago we pushed for an OFT investigation into the road fuels market (got one) but were told by the government that the market was functioning normally. Insiders told us the OFT had no real appetite for a root and branch investigation and were aggressively lobbied by the oil majors."

"We held our own APPG fuel Enquiry in the Commons in December but industry attendees actually told us that they believed consumers liked driving round looking for cheaper fuel and that the concept of 'rocket and feather' was a figment of consumer's imaginations. We have this on tape."

Howard Cox, founder of the FairFuelUK Campaign said: "Wholesale petrol has been 5p higher than diesel for weeks and yet pump prices remain the same for both fuels."

"Retailers are not passing on the benefits of lower oil prices revealed in current wholesale levels and in some cases are now taking a huge 12p per litre in margins."

Suzuki Swift's big numbers

POPULAR: The Swift is loved worldwide

GLOBAL sales of the Suzuki Swift have now passed the five million mark. First launched in the UK in May 2005, more than 118,000 Swifts have been sold and it is the most popular model in the range, accounting for 36 per cent of the UK sales mix.

In the UK, it is available in three and five-door versions; it has a 1.2-litre petrol engine which emits 116g/km CO2 as well as a Dualjet engine equipped with twin fuel injectors that records just 99g/km of CO2 and offers even stronger fuel economy.

All Swift models except 4x4 and Sport are available with a 0% PCP (Personal Contract Purchase) Finance offer until the end of June 2016. Taking the SZ3 three door as an example, a deposit of £2,411 is required followed by 42 monthly payments of £99 and a final payment of £3,680 to keep the car. The three door Sport is available with an APR rate of 2.8% on PCP for £169 per month payable over 48 months.

Record numbers for classic rally

MORE than 350 Aston Martins cruised across the New Forest to Beaulieu on Sunday, April 10 for the first ever Simply Aston Martin rally.

Visitors were treated to the spectacular sights and sounds of these high-powered cars, while owners had the perfect opportunity to catch up with friends, talk about their Aston Martins and enjoy a day out in the picturesque setting.

Events co-ordinator Andy Ollerenshaw said: "With strong advance ticket sales, we were expecting up to 300 cars for the rally but we were absolutely delighted by just how many owners joined us for the first Simply Aston Martin event."

"The response from Aston Martin owners and feedback from visitors was incredible and we anticipate that this successful event will return again next year."

Every era of the British marque's history was represented in the varied display. Pre-war examples such as a rare 1933 Le Mans Short Chassis were complemented by a selection of 1950s and 60s DB models, including a 1959 DB2/4 MkIII Fixed Head Coupe, one of only five made, and a pair of DB6 Volantes.

Classics from the 1970s, 80s and 90s such as the V8 Vantage and DB7 were well represented, while Aston Martin's modern creations also heavily in the line-up. The latest DB9 and Rapide S models were parked alongside such special editions as a 1996 DB i6 GTS, a 2009 DBS 'Quantum of Solace' and two brightly coloured examples of the limited edition N430.

Even an unusual Cygnet, the smallest car to wear the Aston Martin badge, finished off the extensive selection.

IMPRESSIVE: The BMW 5

BMW's '5' business plan a huge success

WITH more than two million vehicles sold, the current BMW 5 Series sets new benchmarks in the premium business segment.

Since its market launch in 2010, the sixth generation of the BMW 5 Series has been best in class in terms of design, driving dynamics and efficiency. As a result, it has become the most successful BMW 5 Series generation to date, also clearly leading the world's bestseller lists in the segment for the last six years. Compared with the previous generation, sales of the current BMW 5 Series have even risen by more than 42 per cent.

Since the start of production in 1972, a total of more than 7.5 million vehicles of the sixth-generation BMW 5 Series have been sold.

Silverstone woe for racer Barker

Motorsport

BEN Barker was in philosophical mood after seeing his Six Hours of Silverstone involvement come to a premature end on Sunday without him even stepping into his Porsche 911 RSR.

The Hunton-based driver could only watch in horror as Gulf Racing team boss and co-driver Michael Wainwright was involved in a collision with the leading #1 Porsche 919 Hybrid of Brendon Hartley.

The incident, which took place just over two hours after the start, ended both cars' races.

"It's annoying I didn't get in the car but it is what it is," he said.

"It's unfortunate but we'll take the positives and move on."

In his assessment of the accident, Barker believes Hartley should have given Wainwright more room.

He continued: "Looking at the replays again you can see that it's more Brendon's fault."

"I see his point of view as well in that there's a gap there and there's lots of different lines on the exit of that corner that lots of people take. Some people don't go as wide, but some people do. Brendon didn't take that into consideration."

Hartley issued a statement which said: "I wanted to get past a GT car on the outside, which is quite normal through there."

"But the driver didn't see me and used all of the road. I don't want to blame anyone, it was a shocking moment and a true shame."

However, the stewards decided that Hartley was at fault.

Despite the damage sustained,

Barker is confident the car will be running in time for the next round of the championship in Spa on May 7.

"We're hoping there's no roof damage but the front end was badly damaged and the rear was as well," he said.

"The boys are on it and Porsche will hopefully give us a hand after the incident so we'll have the support to get it done."

Milne effort is not enough

HAVERHILL Borough had to settle for a 1-1 draw in their midweek encounter with King's Lynn Town in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division.

Borough got off to the perfect start last night at the New Croft, with Jonny Milne finishing after player-manager Martin Westcott's headed assist in the 16th minute.

Football

However, King's Lynn levelled six minutes before half time through Michael Clunan.

The second half proved end-to-end, but neither team were able to snatch a winner.

It followed Borough's

4-0 win over Leiston reserves on Monday night, when Scott Lodge, Harry Halls, Ryan Swallow and Rory Lee were on target.

Borough are back in action on Saturday when they host Downham Town, while Haverhill Rovers travel to Fakenham in the Premier Division.

Potter try seals victory for Haverhill

Rugby union

SIMON Potter had the starring role as Haverhill won the Cambridgeshire Division 10 Plate final by defeating Cottenham Renegades 10-7.

Having had the majority of the territory for the first 20 minutes, Haverhill broke the deadlock with a penalty from Jake Jeffs.

But Cottenham hit back towards the end of the half with a converted try to lead 7-3 at the break.

Haverhill got back on top in the last quarter of the match, and got

GOOD RESULT: Haverhill celebrate their victory

the crucial try with 10 minutes remaining. They kicked to the corner from a penalty and after being held up, from the resulting scrum Potter darted in to get the try, which was converted by Jeffs. And solid defence from Haverhill kept Cottenham at bay to confirm the win.
